

1. Summarize and analyze the reasons causing security problems in TCP/IP based networks.
2. What is security architecture?
3. Describe the basic network security model, using examples to substantiate the model (i.e., give examples of the major components of the model and if possible, give an example of the whole model, and explain them).
4. Describe the network access security model, using examples to substantiate the model.