1. Explain the principle of searching host IPs by using ARP in LAN.
2. Describe how to use IP spoofing to hijack a TCP connection between a host in the internal network and a server in the external network (i.e., the host and the server are not in the same LAN).
3. What are the results of port scanning and vulnerability scanning? For what can the results be used?